Winter Warmers

Don't let your pets get chilled out during the winter months

The cooler weather usually means we tend to 'hibernate', spending more time indoors, shutting out the chills of winter. Our pets too, need adjustments to their lifestyle, spending more time indoors, away from draughts.

Cats are heat-seeking missiles for cosy comfort, often finding a basket or box to curl up in. They'll appreciate a basket near a heater that has been lined with a soft warm blanket or old sweater. Indoor cats will enjoy the heat and warmth of winter sun on a window ledge and outdoor cats will often gravitate to a sunny spot on the roof or outdoor table.

Dog breeds vary so much in their coat length and density. Lithe breeds like Wippets have very little body fat and a fine coat so will benefit from a sweater or jacket. A warm sweater for bed-time and a jacket for outdoor activities is a good combination to keep your dog warm. There are many rain proof jackets available for all sizes of dogs—just remember never to leave a wet jacket on a dog after returning from a walk. Muddy and wet dogs should also be toweled off so their fur can dry quickly. Mud can cake between toes so a quick towel manicure will ensure paws are muck free.

Our birdie friends also need a little extra care to ensure they're not left in draughts. If you shower your birds for feather and skin health, they'll also need to be toweled off.
