

Could your pet be living with

diabetes?

The first step is knowing what to look for

Lethargy. Excessive thirst. Frequent urination. These are some of the common signs of diabetes in dogs and cats – a serious disease that's on the rise. If your pet is displaying any of these signs or risk factors, such as obesity, schedule a checkup with your veterinarian right away. With the proper care, a dog or cat with diabetes can live a happy, healthy and active life.

For further information visit MyVetOnline at www.mvol.com.au

A service of Intervet/Schering-Plough Animal Health
Copyright © 2009 Intervet International B.V. All rights reserved.